■ BOATING

Pocomar open to new recruits

Watts said one of the bigger tasks was when a Pocomar crew had to drop a tow-in and head to the report of two people in the water.

It's unusual for the crew to have to drop one task to respond to another, he said, but things worked out well for everyone involved. The boat dropped in mid-tow was brought in by The Sandman, a private rescue vessel run by a former Pocomar member, and the two people in the water were rescued by Pocomar and brought safely to shore in Haldimand County.

"That was a very good day for my guys, in my opinion."

Pocomar is normally one of the busiest marine search and rescue auxiliary units in all of central and Arctic Canada. The region covers 64% of Canada, is bounded by 71% of Canada's coastline and encompasses about 65% of Canada's marine waters and 67% of the country's fresh waters. It covers Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, the Northwest Territories, Nunavut, Yukon, North Slope and territorial marine waters.

"We had two taskings in total. That was two more taskings than we last year ... more than we expected," said

Port Colborne Marine Auxiliary Rescue (Pocomar) unit members Cal Peyton, left, and Brian Canter, right, prepare a filter for the engine of the Ted Cook, one of its rescue vessels, at the boat launch at H.H. Knoll Lakeview Park Friday morning. The vessel was being taken out of service for the season.

Watts, adding one other unit in the region responded to 29 calls this past season.

Two years ago, the Pocomar unit responded to 32 tasks on Lake Erie, from the Niagara River to the Grand River, an area of roughly 570 km covered by one or both of the unit's rescue vessels.

Pocomar's larger vessel, the Donald R. Workman, is 10 years old and its engines are in top shape as members have worked hard to maintain them over the years.

"Our crew have done a really good job on the engines and they have quite a few years left in them," he said, adding the custom-built boat does as well.

“Our crew have done a really good job on the engines and they have quite a few years left in them.”

The Ted Cook, Pocomar's second vessel, is a custom-built jet boat which can go in close to shore. It can operate in about 30 centimetres of water.

"Though it's not so good in 'heavy weather' or for towing larger boats, Watts said it's 'an effective little boat.'

Both vessels are outfitted with the same chart plotters, radar, radio communication and other rescue gear to respond to all manner of tasks on the lake. Manning the two vessels are 37 members, split into four duty crews that are ready to operate 24/7.

Watts said new recruits are always welcome to the unit, which operates from May until November.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of Pocomar can contact Watts at 905-834-2278.

Quad riders face opposition in Wainfleet

VICTORIA GRAY
InPort News Staff

WAINFLEET — ATVers in Wainfleet have to move their proposed trail system.

An angry Dean Webb came to last week's Wainfleet township council meeting to voice his concerns about Quad ATV Niagara putting a trail system on an unused service road near his property. "I can sleep after the night shift with two ATV's coming though, but not 20, and it has happened," he said at the meeting.

He also said he owns ATVs and he has the property to ride them on, but he doesn't want groups from outside Wainfleet bringing their ATVs near his house.

Mayor April Jeffs acknowledged his concerns and called a public meeting to debate the issue. It will be held Tuesday, Nov. 8.

"I'm anticipating people coming in who are for and against it," Jeffs said.

"I think we're going to get people who are against people who are against it for (the trail's proposed) location," she said.

Tracy-Lynn Bell-Volpato, president of Quad ATV Niagara, plans to bring as it in general who have had a bad experience. I know some farmers who have had crop damage from AT Vers, and who have many Wainfleet riders as possible to the meeting to show council that people from the area will use and enjoy the trail.

"Wainfleet has a huge issue," she said. "We're trying to help them, trying to solve the issue that a lot of farmers actually have because ATVers are driving on people's farm land.

"There is no control; we're trying to put it under control with a trail, insurance and supervision and then there will be less risk."

The township's recreation master plan released in mid-July recommended

Wainfleet consider installing an ATV trail system because it could bring revenue to the community.

"I know Wainfleet doesn't have many motels, but they will come use the local gas station, use the local coffee shop, the local stores," Bell-Volpato said. There will always be bad apples who drive in farmers' fields, but there are bad apples in every set of people.

Making a trail system can only help the township, she said.

■ LIQUIDATION: Chain granted bankruptcy protection

Hart failure leads to store closure

InPort News Staff

PORT COLBORNE — Call it a case of Hart failure.

Hart Store Inc. on West Side Rd. in Port Colborne will close its doors after a liquidation sale which began last week.

According to a news release issued by Tiger Capital group LLC last week, Hart Stores Inc. was granted bankruptcy protection in court under the Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act and will close 32 of the 92 stores it operates in Canada.

The Port Colborne store is one of five closing in Ontario.

Hart Store Inc. was founded in 1960 in Rosemere, Que., to provide services for underserved consumers in remote markets.

"Now, as the company moves to restructure its operations by closing under-performing locations, Hart's loyal consumers will have an unprecedented opportunity to get an even greater value in these stores," said Daniel M. Kane, managing member of Tiger Capital Group, in a news release.

The Port Colborne store sells clothes, footwear, electronics, toys, appliances, seasonal goods, furniture and gifts.

Rick Leckner, a representative from Tiger Capital Group, said the store wasn't making any money.

Leckner said the company did an analysis to see which areas and what stores could bring a profit and it decided Port Colborne was one the places that couldn't.

"Quite simply and unfortunately, they are just not profitable," Leckner said.

■ NEW BENCHES: Students work on project

Hands-on learning for Gators

InPort News Staff

PORT COLBORNE — Standing on wet grass while cheering on the Gators football team from the sidelines will soon be a thing of the past for Lakeshore Catholic students.

In a few weeks the high school will have new bleachers on the north side of the football field that can accommodate up to 400 spectators. The $45,000 project has been in the works for the past five to six years said teacher Tino Nuccitelli, who supervised the construction of the concrete foundation for the structure last Tuesday morning.

"It's massive. They no longer have to sit or stand along the fence. People watching in their cars couldn't see. Now they have a place to sit comfortably," Nuccitelli said of the bleachers.

The bleacher structure itself costs $30,000 while concrete work for the foundation costs $15,000. The money was compiled through school fundraising and private donations.

To cut costs Lakeshore used students enrolled in the construction special, high skills major program. The group — composed of Lakeshore and Notre Dame students — was working hard Tuesday smoothing out the concrete before the bleachers are installed in a few weeks.

Nuccitelli said having the students do the labour is a cost-saving measure on the project and acts as good hands-on learning experience for them.

"It's good for them to get the exposure and real life experiences here," he said. "They'll be involved in every construction process."

Nuccitelli said spectators will get a good view of any sport that takes place on the field, which includes football, rugby, soccer and track and field.

Out of the Cold

Every Tuesday, volunteers from various churches, community and local schools, take time to put together a meal for those in the community in need.

The Out of the Cold program has been running for years in Port Colborne, and other locations in Niagara as well, and fills a need in the community.

An increase in the number of unemployed and underemployed in the city and region, the need for programs like Out of the Cold grows.

Many people have to make the unfortunate choice between paying rent, bills or buying food.

Keeping their homes and apartments and make sure those residences have electricity and heat is the obvious choice for many over having food.

Out of the Cold offers those people a chance to have a hot meal once a week from October until May each year. There are other programs in the city that help carry people through. Port Cares offers meals through its Reach Out Centre, which is also now home to the local food bank.

It's unfortunate that people have to rely on things like the food bank, Reach Out Centre and Out of the Cold program, but we're glad these programs are in place.

We congratulate those who run Out of the Cold and urge anyone who can, to help out.

END OF THE SEASON

Port Colborne Marine Auxiliary Rescue unit is wrapping up another season of life boats on Lake Erie.

Though the year started off slow for the rescue unit with fewer people on the lake due to a rainy spring, things picked up later in the summer.

The unit, which covers Lake Erie from the Niagara River to Port Colborne, ended up responding to 26 calls. That number is not the highest number of calls ever responded to on the lake by the unit, but it's still high.

Pocomar is one of the busiest rescue units in central and Arctic Canada. The region covers 64% of Canada, is bounded by 71% of Canada's coastline and encompasses about 65% of Canada's marine waters and 67% of the country's fresh waters. It covers Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, the Northwest Territories, Nunavut, Yukon North Slope and territorial marine waters.

The vast majority of the calls it responded to were for mechanical breakdowns, but the unit also rescued two men stranded in the waters off of Port Maitland when their boat capsized.

To have a unit, staffed entirely by volunteers, based in Port Colborne is good for the community and good for boaters.

Boaters can be assured that if they get into any trouble, the men and women of Pocomar will respond at any and all hours to help them out.

■ I'VE BEEN THINKING

FR DAVID GRAHAM SCOTT
St Ignatius of Antioch Orthodox Church

Can we be good without God? Modern ethics would answer with an emphatic Yes. Reason alone should persuade us to be good. If everyone murdered everyone, who would be left? This argument is quite rational, but it does not have much persuading power. Even so, such rational ethics without God is better than everyone doing what is right in his or her own eyes. And yet there is no solid consensus about why we should be ethical.

The skeptical philosopher Agrippa, who flourished around 200 AD, noted that no one had succeeded in resolving conclusively the disputes current then after 800 years of argument. We are living 1,800 years after Agrippa, and there is still no substantial agreement on why we should be ethical or moral.

For example, bio-ethics was invented in the 1960's at Georgetown University by Catholics who intended to fill the vacuum left by the disappearance of faith from the universities, political structures and media. These well-intentioned academics thought that they could appeal to everyone today if they based their ethics on natural law and reason.

But their natural law and reason had no more room for God than the intellectuals, government and media had. Their bio-ethics was like a house built on sand rather than on the rock. When the winds and rains of diverse opinions and diverse presuppositions stormed against them, their bio-ethics fell into dispute. Everyone ended up proposing what was good in his or her own eyes. Rational ethics seems doomed in the end to be arbitrary.

What about Christian ethics and morality? Christian ethics and morality are based on the faith that God created the universe and that God revealed his will for our behavior in his moral commandments recorded in Holy Scripture and fulfilled by Jesus Christ. God's commandments bear witness to his relationship to us; he speaks to us as he longs created in his own image.

Our faith relationship with God involves a growing power to be and to do good. God created us with freedom. God brought the Israelites out of slavery in Egypt (Exodus 20:2). Christ has set us free (Galatians 5:1); Christ's way of life will bring knowledge of the truth that will set us free (John 8:31-32). Christian freedom is freedom to believe in God, to be in a right relationship with him in love, and to love one's neighbor as oneself.

Christ means the Anointed One. It is not Jesus' surname. It is his title. Jesus is the Anointed One because the Holy Spirit descended on him and because the Father proclaimed him to be his beloved Son in whom he was well pleased (Mark 1:10-11; Isaiah 22:2; Isaiah 42:1).

Christ promised his disciples that he would pray to the Father to give them the Spirit of truth (John 14:17); indeed he himself would send them the Spirit (John 16:26). And he told them to wait in Jerusalem until they were endowed with power from on high (Luke 24:49). It is the Holy Spirit, proceeding from the Father and sent by the Son, who gives Christians the ability and power to love God and to do good that is to love God totally and the neighbor as oneself. There is really no substitute for this faithful, obedient and loving relationship with the Father through the Son by the Holy Spirit. Ethics and morality without God simply won't do.

Wainfleet food drive a success

A sincere thank you to the citizens of Wainfleet.

Although we recognize that many people are living on reduced or fixed incomes, the residents of Wainfleet have once more shown that they care about their fellow neighbours.

The recent food drive held at the Wainfleet arena collected more than double last year's receipts in food supplies, as well as more than a 50% increase in financial support.

There are many people and businesses that are responsible for the success of this event.

Firstly, thanks to the employees of Meridian Credit Union, Wainfleet Branch, for involving the schools in the collection of food;

Thanks to the students and parents of St. Elizabeth and Winger schools for their generous donation of almost half of our food receipts;

Thanks to Vale Ltd. for supplying the flyers distributed to the residents;

Thanks to Zavor Trucking for usage of their trailer;

Thanks to The Tribune for their excellent press coverage on this event;

Thanks to the student volunteers who assisted us on collection day;

And thanks to the residents for their generous support.

On the behalf of the Wainfleet Lions Club, thank you all for making this years' food drive an overwhelming success.

Secretary, Wainfleet Lions Club

Regulation required for economy

As usual, the right-wing element of our society attack using somewhat skewed and self-serving facts to justify continuance of the status quo as it relates to energy generation. I would not dispute Andrew Watts' contention our Liberal government could have handled development and implementation of renewable resources more efficiently. More research and cost benefit analysis were required before Dalton McQuinty "jumped in bed" with Samsung and other multinational. Mr. Watts also mentions the European model as failed but the facts indicate this industry has grown from 3.1% of power generation in 1990 to 20.8% in 2010. Not bad growth for an industry that is not controlled much in the way of fossil fuels or pollute our environment. By the way, 370,000 jobs have been created in Germany as a result of renewable energy generation. While I am not totally convinced the FIT system is the best way to start this industry, it's probably the fastest and my eternal lefty optimism thinks the prices of energy will fall after a period of amortization and inevitable system improvements.

To blame the European debt crisis on the development of green energy resources is silly. Greed and rank stupidity of the international banking system is to blame for the dire economic straits the world's economy finds itself in.

An example of this greed: After the 2008 meltdown the executives who perpetuated this meltdown at such previously sold companies such as Citigroup Inc., Merrill-Lynch and Countrywide Financial were given golden parachutes of $147 million, $162 million and $145 million respectively. That, sir, is greed in its most perverse and destructive manner.

We absolutely need government regulation to protect our economies from the "me first and to hell with the consequences" capitalists who are unable to control their avarice and greed and are not smart enough to realize if you kill the golden goose there will be no more golden eggs.

We need to get this new industry done right so coal fired electrical generation is a thing of the past and fossil fuel usage is reduced to dramatically reduce green house emissions so we actually have a planet to support future generations.

John C Duquette

History repeats itself

Mr. Evan's comments about Andrew Watts' beliefs suggest that Mr. Evan does not read very carefully.

Mr. Watts is not against environmentally friendly technologies. He simply states we do not get what we pay for with wind and solar technology and the downsides from these technologies are ignored.

Mr. Suzuki gives his expert opinions on global warming, but seems to ignore the fact that there were at least two global warming periods in the past when there was no industry and possibly no people either.

It seems to be accepted that the previous warm/cold cycles were caused by meteors hitting the earth, possibly changing the orbit slightly. Is this current warming a natural trend, or could all the nuclear testing have changed the orbit slightly?

I do not mean to suggest we have been kind to the planet, although Mother Nature has not always been kind either.

■ COMMITTEE: Eight members to be chosen

Jeffs anxious to implement $50,000 recreation plan

InPort News Staff

WAINFLEET — Wainfleet wants to get the ball rolling on recreation.

In mid-July the township's recreation master plan was unveiled. Since then, councillors have been trying to create a committee to implement some of the recommendations put forth in the plan.

But the process has been slow.

Mayor April Jeffs and other members of council would like to see some results as early as this winter and definitely by next spring.

"I'm anxious to get it going, to have those members apply, so we can work on it," Jeffs said last week.

She doesn't want to see the plan go to waste because taxpayers spent some $50,000 hiring a consultant on the document, which is aimed, among other things, about boosting tourism.

"Time goes by so fast and things take so long, so that's why I'm so anxious to get these things going," Jeffs said.

mittee will be responsible for making sure events such as an ATV Expo happen.

Jeffs said residents can submit proposals to the committee and groups can work together to produce events that will generate interest for all ages.

The committee will be comprised of eight members of the committee, a township staff member and Ald. David Wyatt.

"He has a real interest in tourism and recreation," Jeffs said.

"Through that committee we can run big ventures and even small ones."

Myo-Med supports the Gifford-Jones Professorship in Pain Control and Palliative Care

Nitric oxide, or more simply NO, is arguably the most important molecule your body produces. Unfortunately very few people know what it is or what it does for our body. NO is the molecule produced by the cells that line your blood vessels that control blood pressure, plaque formation and inflammation. It is also produced in your brain to act as a neurotransmitter and by your immune system to help fight off infections. The science of NO is relatively new, but its importance was almost immediately recognized. In 1998 three U.S. scientists were awarded the Nobel Prize in Medicine or Physiology for their discovery of NO. Dr. Valentin Fuster, then president of the American Heart Association, noted in a 1998 interview that "the discovery of NO and its function is one of the most important in the history of cardiovascular medicine."

The lack of NO greatly affects our body, and when we lose the ability to generate sufficient amounts of NO, this sets the stage for a number of different disease processes. As we age, we become NO insufficient and scientists believe this is the earliest sign of progression of many diseases including cardiovascular disease, the number one killer of men and women in North America. Unfortunately, until recently there was really no way to know if you were NO insufficient because there were no diagnostics for doctors to test their patients. Furthermore there was no real solution to restoring NO homeostasis. Bocked by over 10 years of research and testing, Neogenis Labs has developed the first and only nitric oxide test strip to test NO availability and also the first clinically proven technology for restoring NO homeostasis in patients over 40 years old. Neo40 is an all natural dietary supplement that has been shown in a double blinded placebo controlled clinical study to restore nitric oxide and reduce cardiovascular risks. The results of the trial showed that taking Neo40 for 30 days led to restoration of NO, 27% reduction in triglycerides, modest reduction in blood pressure and C-reactive protein (a marker of inflammation). Most notable effects of Neo40 in patients were an increase in energy, better mental acuity and focus, more endurance and better performance when exercising and better sexual health.

■ REILLY ANZOVINIO: Teen killed in fatal crash

Inquest into death started Monday

ALISON LANGLEY
QMI Agency

PORT ERIE — Almost two years after her death, an inquest began that will probe the circumstances surrounding a fatal crash that claimed the life of Port Erie teen Reilly Anzovino.

The inquest, which got underway

Monday in a Welland courtroom, is expected to last four weeks and hear from more than 30 witnesses.

Anzovino was 18 when she died on Boxing Day 2009 after the car

she was a passenger in collided with a second vehicle on Hwy. 3 between Port Erie and Port Colborne.

The crash occurred about 16 kilometres from Douglas Memorial Hospital, but an ambulance carrying the critically-injured teen had to travel twice that distance to Welland hospital because the Port Erie hospital had recently closed its emergency department.

Anzovino succumbed to her injuries shortly before arriving in Welland.

The inquest is expected to examine whether or not the closure of emergency rooms at Douglas Memorial and Port Colborne hospitals played a role in her death.

The ERs were downgraded to urgent care centres as part of a Niagara Health System restructuring plan.

Anzovino's death sparked outrage in the Port Erie community and became a prominent issue during the recent provincial election.

Ontario NDP Leader Andrea Horwath referenced the case during the televised leaders' debate.

She visited Port Erie in September to support NDP candidate Wayne Redekop. With members of the Anzovino family in attendance, she vowed to reopen Douglas Memorial's ER if elected premier.

Redekop, a lawyer and former mayor, is representing the Anzovino family at the inquest.

"My clients are looking forward to the recommendations of the jury once all of the evidence has been submitted," he said this week.

Niagara Falls MPP Kim Craitor first proposed the inquest. He wrote to Ontario's chief coroner, Dr. Andrew McCallum, to look into whether the conversion of the ERs played a role in the tragedy.

Craitor has been a vocal critic of changes to hospital services in the region that were supported by his own government.

Ontario Progressive Conservative Leader Tim Hudak, who was born at Douglas Memorial, and former Welland NDP MPP Peter Kormos also joined the call for an inquest.

■ PORT CARES: Close to reaching fundraising goal

Reaching goal means changing lives

EDDIE CHAU
InPort News Staff

PORT COLBORNE — Every penny counts for Port Cares.

The Port Colborne-based organization is close to achieving its $335,000 fundraising goal and it will not stop until that number is achieved.

Pam Swick Janjac, development officer for Port Cares, said the organization has $56,741 left to raise for its contribution to the Reaching Out and Changing Lives Capital Campaign, which will help fund the expansion of the Reach Out Food Centre on Nickel St. The fundraising is part of the more than $1-million goal needed for the expansion.

"We are confident that we will reach our goal," Swick Janjac said. "It's the first time we've ever had a capital campaign. We had a generous start right off the bat. We're going to keep doing what we're doing until we reach our goal."

Port Cares received $670,000 — $335,000 apiece from provincial and federal governments — towards the campaign. The remaining $335,000 left to raise by the organization will complement the government funding — one-third of the total cost of the project.

The expansion project of the facility includes an enlarged dining and kitchen area, office space and an area for a community food bank. The expansion will allow the organization to offer a variety of programs such as daily meal programs for residents, cooking circles, speaking engagements, classes and wellness cafes.

The programs offered promote healthy living and provide education and work experience to residents of Port Colborne.

"It's more than just a food bank,"

Swick Janjac said. "The more people learn about what we offer the more support we get. We're appealing to people and businesses for donations and they come to us with donations. We get support in many ways."

Port Cares continues to fundraise through its Brick Campaign, through which residents or businesses become a donor and their name will be inscribed on a paper brick to be mounted on the wall of the Reach

Out Food Centre.

While the centre has been open since August, Port Cares will mark the official opening of the facility with a ribbon cutting ceremony Nov. 10 at 3 p.m. at the Reach Out Food Centre at 61 Nickel St. The event will feature refreshments as well as guided tours of the facility along with demonstrations.

DENTURE CENTRE

SOFT LINER

Q. Recently I have noticed that my dentures have become loose and uncomfortable. What can I do?
If you have been feeling pain in your gums for sometime and wearing a denture hurts even though it has been meticulously adjusted, or if your denture is becoming increasingly loose and is uncomfortable, it's time for a visit to see your dentist. Fortunately, there is an answer to solve these problems. I recommend a soft liner.

Q. What is a soft liner?
The permanent soft liner is a layer of soft material that is fitted to the surface of your denture and rests next to the oral tissues. The soft liner acts as a cushion or shock absorber between the hard plastic of the denture and the gum area. The soft base will not halt the resorption of your gum, whose shape and thickness are constantly changing, and the reason for your denture getting looser, but it will ensure that your denture provides continued comfort as time goes by.

Q. What are the advantages of a soft liner?
To name a few reasons: • Great comfort. • With soft liners, many denture wearers report that they can chew food more comfortably and effectively. • This will extend the health of your gum as well as ensure maximum adherence.

Q. Is a soft liner right for me?
Permanent soft liner provide comfort and relief for individuals with:
• Severely resorbed or flat gums that do not tolerate the stress of dentures • Chronic soreness

Things to think about with soft liners...
Soft liners requires regular follow-up visits with a Denturist to examine the fit of dentures, the health of your oral tissue, and to ensure proper oral hygiene and cleaning of the soft tissue lining.

Our Port Country Pantry's Christmas Nut Roast

Printed as in a 2004 (2005) Lighter version: 1 food processor with vegetable coating.

1. In a food processor, blend oil and add the onion, garlic, carrot and mushrooms, until well mixed and evenly browned, about 10 minutes. Add the Cilantro and salt to taste. Turn off heat.
2. Place the nuts, bread, and salt in the bowl of a food processor and process with ground nut, a mixture of butter (presumably a coarse meal). Add Onions, Thyme, Salt & Pepper pulse to combine. Measure 1/2 cup of the mixture and use as well as 1/2 cup of the crumbs mixture and place in a large bowl. Set aside.
3. Add the remainder of the mixture in the bowl to the crumbs left in the food processor along with the dry season and mix again for 1 minute. Scrape the mixture into the bowl with the vegetables and other crumb. Combine the ingredients in the bowl with you have thickly. "Soak" hot into the 1/2" hot pan and smooth in top. Bake in a preheated oven for about one hour, until top is dry and the edges are well browned. Allow to cool 30 minutes before slicing. Make a sandwich.

* If you have guests with wheat allergies, you can use a gluten-free bread or nut meal. If you need protein, a filling, add a little more salt to a equal meal for any meat. The 1/2 cup of nut meal can be substituted for 1/2 cup of nut meal. For the nuts, add a little salt to the nuts.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND HEARING

ENBRIDGE GAS DISTRIBUTION INC. and UNION GAS LIMITED

RENEWABLE NATURAL GAS PROGRAM APPLICATION

Ontario
EB-2011-0242
EB-2011-0283

Enbridge Gas Distribution Inc. ("Enbridge") and Union Gas Limited ("Union Gas" or combined "the companies") have each filed an application with the Ontario Energy Board (the "Board"), dated September 30, 2011 seeking an order or orders approving or fixing rates for the sale of natural gas by Enbridge and Union Gas and include the cost consequences of the purchase of biomethane. The applications have been filed under section 36 of the Ontario Energy Board Act, 1998.

Biomethane is processed from biogas and landfill gas. Biogas and landfill gas result from the decomposition of organic material in an oxygen-free environment, either as a result of a controlled process within an anaerobic digester or as a result of a natural process in a landfill site.

The Board has assigned file number EB-2011-0242 to the Enbridge application and file number EB-2011-0283 to the Union Gas application.

Both Enbridge and Union Gas propose to acquire biomethane as part of their respective supply portfolios for customers who purchase natural gas from the companies. The companies propose to limit the volume of biomethane and the length of time over which it will be purchased. The companies have requested approval of a pricing framework approving the purchase of biomethane from Ontario producers at specified prices and for a 20-year term. If accepted, the companies' proposal would result in an increase of approximately $1.50 per month to the average residential customer's bill, based on current natural gas rates.

How to see Enbridge Gas Distribution Inc.'s and Union Gas Limited's Applications

Copies of the applications are available for inspection at the Board's office in Toronto and on its website, www.ontarioenergyboard.ca/OEB/Industry, and at both Enbridge's and Union Gas' offices and on their websites.

Port Colborne Mayor Vance Badawey discusses hospital services in his city with Niagara Health System supervisor Dr. Kevin Smith.

Port won't give up fight until ER reopens

ALLAN BENNER
 InPort News Staff

PORT COLBORNE — After meeting with Dr. Kevin Smith last week, Port Colborne Mayor Vance Badawey felt a sense of optimism.

But that optimism, he added, is based on years of work by many people who developed a blueprint for hospital care in Port Colborne, and small communities across the province.

Regarding his conversation with Niagara Health System's provincially appointed supervisor, Badawey said he'll wait until he reads Smith's final report on the MHS before deciding whether or not to call the meeting a success.

"I've had many meetings in the last decade with many people, Dr. Smith included, the health minister and many others. How far have we gone?"

Ultimately, he said the success of the meeting will depend on whether or not Port Colborne hospital's emergency department reopens.

"Our emergency room continues to be our No. 1 priority, and the reopening of that emergency room," he said.

"Quite frankly, right now there exists a very frustrated and angry community here in the city of Port Colborne."

Although the city has managed to enhance the quality of community-based health care, such as recruiting enough family physicians to meet the city's needs, Badawey said there is still much room for improvement within the hospital.

And the city will continue to fight for the services it needs "until we get that ER back."

He made that very clear to Dr. Smith," he added.

Badawey said his conversation with Smith went beyond the borders of Port Colborne.

He said they discussed the Clinical Service Plan, developed by a "very dynamic team" of professionals including hospital administrators, Ministry of Health representatives, physicians from across Niagara and the province, as well as political representatives.

That document, he added, can act as a blueprint for enhancing hospital services in Port Colborne as well as similar communities across the province.

The Flu Vaccine

It is time to start thinking about getting the flu vaccine. There will be flu shot clinics offered in the local area in the upcoming weeks that anyone can go to. Often these clinics are underutilized. There is still a great deal of misunderstanding about the flu vaccine and who should be immunized.

Each year an average of 20,000 people are hospitalized, and between 2,000 and 8,000 Canadians can die of influenza and its complications. Those most likely to suffer complications of the flu are the most vulnerable: children under two and adults over 65. The seasonal influenza vaccine is safe and effective and can benefit people of all ages. The flu shot only provides protection up to 12 months; immunization is required each year. This year's flu shot protects against the H1N1 flu virus as well as two other strains of the flu. October to mid-November is the best time for immunization, but the vaccine may still be given in winter months.

Who should get immunized? The following is a list from the recommended guidelines.

People at high risk of influenza-related complications, including:

- Adults and children with chronic conditions such as:
  1. Cardiac or lung disorders such as asthma
  2. Diabetes mellitus and other metabolic diseases
  3. Cancer, immunodeficiency, immunosuppression
  4. Renal disease
  5. Anemia

- Children and adolescents with conditions treated for long periods with aspirin
- All residents of nursing homes or other chronic care facilities
- Seniors aged 65 years or older
- Pregnant women
- Children aged 6 months to 23 months of age
- Persons who are morbidly obese
- Aboriginal peoples

People capable of transmitting influenza to those at high risk of complications, including:

- Health care and other care providers
- Household contacts of those at high risk and to infants less than six months
- Members of a household expecting a newborn during flu season
- Women at all stages of pregnancy or breastfeeding mothers
- Those providing regular child care to children 0-23 months
- Those who provide services within closed settings to persons at high risk

Others

- People who provide essential community services
- People in direct contact with avian influenza infected poultry
- Healthy people aged 5-64 years who consider getting the vaccine even if they are not in one of the above groups

The list of those who should receive the vaccine is extensive. If you have had an anaphylactic reaction to the vaccine or one of its components you should not get the vaccine. Or, if you have an allergy to eggs you should discuss getting the vaccine with your health care practitioner. However, it has been shown that egg-allergic individuals may be vaccinated using the TIV vaccine.

Children 6 months to less than 9 years who have never received the seasonal flu vaccine require two doses, with a minimum of four weeks between doses.

Please remember that the flu shot cannot cause the flu. If you have become sick after getting the shot in the past it was a coincidental infection of some other kind. The main side effect is pain and redness at the site of injection for a day or two afterward.

The flu shot is effective. Scientific studies show the effectiveness of the flu shot to range from 70% to 90%. Adults over 65 should also look in to getting the pneumococcal vaccine. Pneumococcal disease, a common complication of influenza, is a bacterial disease that can cause meningitis, bacteraemia (in bloodstream infection) and pneumonia. You can get this vaccine at the same time as the flu shot through your doctor.

To date you must get your flu shot through your doctor or the flu shot clinics in the area. At some point in the near future this vaccine may become available to be given by your pharmacist who will be trained to give injections.

If you have any questions about any of the above information please call or visit your local pharmacy.

INCENTIVE ALL IT TOOK

PORT COLBORNE — Port Colborne's incentive programs are doing their job, says the city's director of planning and development.

Dan Aquilina updated city council last week on the status of the city's community improvement plan incentives from the 2010-11 fiscal year.

Staff received 20 applications for incentive programs under the Main St. and Downtown Central Business District CIPs. Thus far, $48,942 has been paid out to some applicants and committed to others for work not yet completed.

Combined with regional funding for a number of the applications, the city has approved more than $80,000 in CIP incentive funding during the 2010-11 year.

A polling of other municipalities within Niagara that offer incentive programs indicated it is a "good year" when five to seven applications are received, said Aquilina, making Port Colborne's results well above average.

"The plans are working. The word is out there."

"The well is dry," Aquilina said of the $50,000 originally budgeted by council for 2011.

The city has several applications on hold subject to funding from the 2012 budget. Those applications are expected to eat up the remaining dollars — just more than $1,000 — left in the 2011 pot, Aquilina said.

He reminded council that moving forward in 2012, the city will have five CIPs through which incentives can be offered, including Main St., Downtown CBD, Brownfield, East Village (Waterfront) and Industrial.

With three active CIPs and two more on the way, staff will be requesting $100,000 from council in the 2012 budget to cover the cost of funding incentive programs.

■ LIGHTS: Looking to save money

Port Colborne seeks bright idea

InPort News Staff

PORT COLBORNE — Port Colborne is searching for bright ideas. The city, through Port Colborne Hydro, will be looking for ways to save money and create efficiencies when it comes to streetlights.

The city owns about 1,880 streetlights and the cost of electricity to power them in the past has taken up nearly 2% of the city's annual tax levy. In 2010, however, approval and change in rates by the Ontario Energy Board saw the cost of power for streetlighting in Port Colborne increase to $280,000 from $180,000. The city's budget for streetlight power in 2011 is $270,000.

City operations are responsible for securing parts and supplies for streetlight maintenance, while Canadian Niagara Power Inc. is primarily responsible for maintenance repair and installation — a service that CNPI subcontract.

"We may be able to do some unique things with streetlights," chief administrative officer Bob Heil told city council recently. Heil proposed that Port Colborne Hydro look into taking on a greater role in regards to streetlights, as there may be both financial advantages and efficiencies realized through in-house management with direct management of contractors for maintenance, repair and installation.

Port Colborne Hydro can explore various opportunities for expense efficiency, he said, including potential for introducing LED streetlights and solar panels on light poles.

The recommendation to investigate these potential opportunities was approved.

■ KOATS FOR KIDS: Make a donation

Share the warmth

KELSEA WACKHAMMER For InPort News

WELLAND — Children and parents will soon be feeling the warmth of those people who donate to the Koats for Kids and Families program.

The program collects new or gently used coats, but people can also donate hats, mittens, gloves and boots. It runs Nov 1 through Dec. 12. "These are bad economic times," said Jackie Marr, the development officer at Hope Centre. "It's hard enough to make ends meet. People can't afford to shell out the extra money a coat requires."

The program collects coats for all ages, but the need is greater for children's wear, Marr said.

"Kids grow. They can't wear the same coat they wore last year."

Rhonda Boutin, the manager at Nick's Cleaners, one of the drycleaners involved in the program, said she's already received about 12 coats. Last year, 900 coats were collected, solely in Welland. The hope is for similar results this year.

Coats can be left at Nick's Cleaners, 483 East Main St., Welland; Highlanders Cleaners, 340 Thorold Rd., Welland; Quality Cleaners, 1419 Pelham St., Fonthill; Yazz Dry Cleaners and Quick Stitch, Seaway Mall, 800 Niagara St.; and Lightheart's Cleaners, 388 King St., Port Colborne.

Distribution centres run Monday to Friday, Nov. 7 to Dec. 16, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and are free of charge. New or gently used coats can be dropped off at the Hope Centre at the Job Gym, 225 East Main St., Welland, and at Port Cares Client Services at 176 Catharine St. in Port Colborne. Coats that need repairs won't be accepted.

"If you can't wear it, why should anyone else?" Boutin asked.

In the Canadian winters, coats are a necessity, Marr added. "We want to make everyone's key warm."
